

2014 Passing Time Horse Heaven Hills Cabernet Sauvignon

Passing Time

A Cabernet Sauvignon Dry Red Table wine from USA, Horse Heaven Hills, Columbia Valley, Washington, USA

Source	Reviewer	Rating	Maturity	Current (Release) Cost
eRobertParker.com #225 Jun 2016	Jeb Dunnuck	(95-97)	Drink: N/A	(75)

The finest wine I've tasted from Chris, the jaw-droppingly good 2014 Horse Heaven Hills Cabernet Sauvignon got a big "wow" in the notes and was easily my favorite of the new releases under the Passing Time label. Black raspberries, currants, creme de cassis, smoked earth and mineral all flow from this black/blue colored, full-bodied, concentrated, yet thrillingly fresh and elegant Cabernet. Let's just hope it shows this well from bottle!

A joint venture between football stars Damon Huard and Dan Marino, these terrific Cabernets are made by Chris Peterson at his Avennia winery. The change in 2014 was the decision to focus on appellation specific wines, and they've moved from a single Cabernet Sauvignon to three different cuvees: one from Walla Walla, one from Red Mountain and one from Horse Heaven Hills.