2015 PASSING TIME CABERNET SAUVIGNON, RED MOUNTAIN

Evocative nose with crème de cassis, Damson plum, violet, crushed rock, dried roses, and espresso. The palate has a silky, creamy texture featuring dark red fruits, bittersweet chocolate, and graphite. Power and elegance harmonize on the palate and through the finish. This wine stays refined even as it is large scaled and built for the long term. A two to three year wait is great for a start, but this wine will last 15-20 years easily.

Coming mostly from the Klipsun Vineyard on Red Mountain, with a splash of Cabernet Franc from Bacchus Vineyard (this is Columbia Valley), the 2015 Red Mountain Cabernet Sauvignon offers classic Cabernet notes of leafy herbs, blackcurrants, graphite and cedary spice. With full-bodied richness, a voluptuous, rounded, sexy texture, no hard edges and a killer finish, it's one seriously good barrel sample that's going to drink nicely for two decades or more.
